To Terrify Terrorists
Another Attempt to Kill
For Gold Star Mothers
Women Spend 53 Billions

Los Angeles, Calif.—The shooting of the Mexican president, his wife and another, none killed, fortunately, will mean drastic action in Mexico. No nation will tolerate, even in civilized times, a campaign for the control of government by murder. Back of the young hand that fired the shots there stands in the shadow some murderous organization, relying on terror and using servile tools for its purpose.

Ortiz Rubio and the powerful Portes Gil, former president, now Rubio's secretary of the interior, will find a way to terrify the terrorists.

Before the would-be murderer shot him, Ortiz Rubio, in his brief inauguration address, had promised that all classes of Mexicans "should enjoy the privilege of being classed as men." Those familiar with conditions under which Mexico's lower classes have lived, and with the attitude toward them of the upper classes, will know what that means to the Mexican underdog.

Congress votes more than $5,000,000 that "gold star" mothers may visit their sons' graves in France. Of 11,000 mothers entitled to go, 6,000 have expressed a desire to go. Many cannot go because of duties at home. Others, perhaps, dread the sorrowful shock to those that do not go, congress should pay in cash the pro rata amount that it would cost to send them, about $2,000. No other course would be fair.

Texas has an "anti-chain store association" to drive and keep out chain stores owned outside the state. The governor and other high officials are said to endorse the association, which seeks to protect thousands of small merchants, driven to the wall by chain-store efficiency and economy.

Another attempted murder among our Latin-American friends. An attempt, fortunately a failure, is made on the life of Mello Vianna, vice president of Brazil. As in the recent Mexican outrage, the man attacked was making a political address and the would-be murderer was moved by political hatreds. Only harsh severity can meet such an assassination epidemic.

Richard Stewart, rug merchant of Warren, Ohio, is in jail. Judge Perry found him guilty of molesting a woman. Stewart offers an excuse as old as Adam: "The woman led me on." In jail Stewart refuses to eat. It would have been fortunate for Adam, and for us, but bad for the clothing business, had Adam likewise refused to eat.

Charles Evans Hughes returns to the Supreme court as chief justice, at President Hoover's request. In him the people have a brilliantly able man, worthy to take Mr. Taft's place. And from Mr. Hughes' acceptance of the position you learn that honor and opportunity to be useful are more important than financial profit.

Mr. Hughes gives up a private law practice worth more than $500,000 a year, for the small salary and great opportunity of the Supreme bench.

Chicago's Retail Advertising Institute is told that American women spend every year fifty-three billion dollars.

A million is a great deal. A thousand millions is a very great deal. Fifty-three thousand millions spent by the women in this country is an extraordinary amount of money.

The rich, in this happy land, very happy for some, are richer than they ever were. The Treasury department tells you there were 490 Americans in 1928 with annual incomes above $1,000,000. The total on which they paid income tax was one thousand and seventy-three millions.

And, as you know, this represents only a fraction of the really big incomes. There are men with incomes above one hundred millions each. Their money is in great corporations. The latter re-invest their earnings and fund-stock dividends instead of cash to the big controlling stockholders. On such dividends, in accordance with Supreme court decision, the really rich men pay no income tax.

One man, with much more than a hundred millions income, paid, as shown in reports once published, only six millions income tax. Without the stock dividend device he would have paid forty millions at least. A lot of salary earners and professional men made up the difference.

Of the super-millionaires, twenty-four have more than five millions a year each. With all that money you would expect to hear of some remarkable and interesting things done, but money and imagination do not often go together. Imagination prevents accumulation.

For brains and ingenuity there are always openings and success. What is wanted is something that will give a decent living to any man or woman willing to do honest work. Even the average man has a right to live, or should have.

Winter Carnival Huge Success

THOUSANDS FROLIC AMIDST SNOW AND ICE

AIRPLANES PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN ENTERTAINMENT

All highways led to Grayling last Saturday and Sunday and over them came hundreds of autos bringing people to our Mid-Winter Sports carnival. The number of visitors far exceeded the fondest hopes of our most enthusiastic boosters.

Cars filled with people clad in mackinaw suits, fur-lined suits and other habiliment, all in red or other don, H. C. Youngs, and L. L. Yeakey, all of Bay City and George Knapp, of Saginaw, jumped from the cockpit. Other Bay Cityans attending the carnival were the Misses Alyce Walker, Elsie Skoog, Gwendolyn Williams, Vera Nichol, Helene Adams, Florence Eichhorn, Helen Martin, Mrs. Katherine Banta, Ray Karpus, Winslow Ouellette, Darwin C. Smith, and Glenn MacDonald.

There were dark winter storm clouds among which were mingled others of snowy whiteness, with Old Sol playing hide-and-seek in the valleys between which was a fitting canopy over the opening of the Mid-Winter Carnival—and as the parade bright colors early lined our streets and when the parade rounded into the main street one would be reminded of circus day.

The weather was ideal and overhead five airplanes from Bay City led the procession and swooped down low and often just high enough to clear our highest buildings. It was spectacular and highly thrilling.

Just before the parade which escorted the queen and her court to the lake, the five airplanes from Bay City swooped down and landed on the ice below the long toboggan slides. W. B. Mitchell, Jr., William Shultz, Henry Dora, William Schwab, A. D. Dalzell, Howard Fuller, Charles Con-came down Spruce street from the school and turned onto the main thoroughfare many "Oh's" and "Ah's" and exclamations of delight mingled with the honking auto horns and vigorous applause, gave evidence to the committee in charge of this feature of the Carnival, and to all those who took part in the parade, and to all who gave aid in making it such a success, that their efforts were fully appreciated.

The parade was led by John Bruun and George Schrader on curving and high-stepping steeds, and following came the impromptu band of six trumpeters and bass drum, the volunteer musicians being Ed. Clarke, Harold McNeven, Archie Cripps, Frank Sales, John Mathiesen and Don

FATHERS AND SONS BANQUET

WALTER GOSPIEL GAVE SPLEN-DID ADDRESS

About 300 dads and lads dined Wednesday evening at Michelson Memorial church at a dinner put on by the Ladies Aid society of that organization. As Clark's orchestra played a march it was a thrilling sight to witness the long rows of fathers and sons as they marched into the banquet room—and found places at the tables. Before seating, the huge audience sang the "Greeting Song," led by Charles Hill and with Mrs. Clippert at the piano.

While a group of pleasing waitresses were serving the first course Mr. Hill kept the happy throng a-singin' and right lusty was the response by both old and young dads and the lads.

The ladies of the church certainly do know how to make things appetizing and full justice was done by everyone to the fine menu, which was as follows: Ham loaf; gravy; mashed potatoes; scalloped corn; fried pineapple; rye and white bread; pickles, jelly, lemon pie and coffee.

Rev. Greenwood presided as toastmaster and sprung a number of amusing stories and put introductions. Email Giegling responded to the toast: "If I were a boy in 1930," and Jerome Kessler to "If I were a dad in 1930." Don Gothro gave very nicely a recitation "Just the Best Thing."

Musical numbers were given by a male quartette composed of Messrs. Webb, Jarmin, Alexander and Lewis, and a vocal solo by Howard Schmidt, who quite surprised many by his pleasing voice and manner.

Walter Gospiel of Petoskey, a Y. M. C. A. worker among young boys was the principal speaker. His message consisted in almost its entirety of stories, some amusing and others that led up to fine moral and edifying conclusions, pointing the way to useful lives.

Mr. Gospiel's talk was one that would hold the attention of young lads and had a meaning that was readily understood. His many years of service among young men has fitted him well for the task he is undertaking of the organization of Y. M. C. A. groups among the counties of the north. He knows boys and boys quickly yield to his fine influence and example. We are sure his message sunk deep into the minds of the fathers and sons who heard him.

The dining room was never more beautiful than upon this occasion. Festoons of many colored balloons were hung from two sides of the room with streamers of red paper above and stretched across the ceiling. Along the sides and in the corners, were huge baskets covered with bright red paper and filled with ferns, lilies, and greens of all kinds. The window ledges were filled with small potted plants, the pots covered with bright red paper also. The tables were covered with the white cloths while stretched along the edges were strips of blue paper on which had been placed a lace doilie at each place, also bouquets graced the centers. Fancy paper hats were at each place at the table and were worn by the banqueters. The finished effect was really wonderful.

Those seated at the speaker's table were: Reverend Greenwood, Pastor of Michelson Memorial church and son Perry; Father Culligan, Pastor of St. Mary's church and Jerome Kessler; Walter Gospiel, Y.M.C.A. worker and Robert Funk; Mr. LaBarge, Supt. of Schools and William Foley; T. W. Hanson, President of the Board of Trade and George Hanson; Dr. Keyport, President of School Board with Ernest Corwin; Emil Giegling and Fred Welsh.

The chairman of committees were General Chairman Mrs. Oscar Schumann; tickets, Emil Giegling; decorations, Mrs. H. A. Bauman; dining room, Mrs. A. J. Joseph; kitchen, Mrs. Hermann; program, Rev. Greenwood; music, Mrs. C. G. Clippert; orchestra, Mrs. Geo. Olson.

In the foreground was a throne awaiting the queen and her maids. This was built from snow and ice. It was patterned after the regal seat of a French castle built by Chaleagne. Clarence Johnson, superintendent of the winter sports, designed the throne from his memory of one he had seen in the soissons sector during the World War.

Miss Helen Lietz, carnival queen, ascended the graceful flight of steps to her gleaming white chair topped with icicles and her court maids, Misses Edith Bidvia, Margaret Warren, Mary Mahneke and Anna Hanson and Lorraine Budge, queen of the Water Carnival at Bay City last summer and later selected as Miss Michigan at Baltimore, and Miss Ellen Gothro, Grayling's queen of the Water Carnival, took their places on the dais around the throne.

T. W. Hanson, president of the Board of Trade and general manager of the winter sports, extended a cordial welcome on behalf of the citizens of Grayling. He assured all that it is our fondest hope that they enjoy the event to the fullest. He also formally introduced the queen and her guests and each arose and as they did so each proved that there had been no mistake in her selection.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT PLAY HIGH FLYER

SCHOOL AUDITORIUM FEB. 21ST

The Grayling High School Junior play "High Flyers" under the direction of C. N. Hill will be presented February 21, in the High School auditorium.

In selecting this play the Junior Class have a snappy comedy full of pep, fun and college "learning" and one that is being presented in this section of the state for the first time, being a 1929 copyright.

As to the quality of this production nothing more need be said other than it is under the direction of Charles Hill, whose plays in the past have rated as high class dramatic endeavors.

The large crowd that was present at the 1929 Junior play "The Ghost Bird" realize just what to expect from a Hill coached play.

THE COWELL INSTITUTE

Not many of our people are aware that we have in our city a growing industry that is calling attention from all over the world. Within the last two weeks, even, business has been transacted with business men of Alaska, Canada, Hawaii, Mexico, Central America, South America, Africa, China, India, Siam and other countries as well as nearly every state in our country.

Under the business name of The Cowell Institute, John W. Cowell and his assistants are doing much to put the name of Grayling on the map.

Lessons on marbleizing, stone enameling and mold making are being sent out daily to business houses and to individuals, and the returns have been very satisfactory. These lessons have been prepared by Mr. Cowell, who has had the help of two of the best well known chemical laboratories in the country.

Other business transactions now being considered include the building of factories from Massachusetts to the western coast, for the purpose of handling marbleized wallboard and other marbleized products of the company. In this Mr. W. H. Cowell will be associated with his brother John W.

Mr. Cowell is assisted in his work by Mrs. A. W. Parker, as Sec. Treas., and by Mrs. W. Cowell and Mrs. Frances McDaniels, who have charge of the mixing, sample making and shipping.

Visitors interested in the business have been entertained by Mr. Cowell, coming from Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia and other places.

Recently Mr. Cowell entered into contract with the Atlas Supply Co., of Haverhill, Mass., for the establishing of a plant in that city for the manufacture of marbleized wallboard and other marbleized products that he manufactures so skillfully. If this plant proves the success that firm hopes it will, other factories will be established in other cities. Mr. Cowell will leave for Massachusetts soon to begin the construction of the plant and to train workers in the work and art. A wonderful improvement has been made in that line of product by Mr. Cowell and he is turning out a product that at once attracts the attention of architects and builders who see it. One of the plans of the Atlas Co., is to eventually establish a branch factory in Grayling. Mr. Cowell will work on a royalty basis and he says that if the firm sell as much of the product as they say they can he will be able to retire within two years. And he says there is no question but that the product will fill the requirements.

The chairman of committees were General Chairman Mrs. Oscar Schumann; tickets, Emil Giegling; decorations, Mrs. H. A. Bauman; dining room, Mrs. A. J. Joseph; kitchen, Mrs. Hermann; program, Rev. Greenwood; music, Mrs. C. G. Clippert; orchestra, Mrs. Geo. Olson.

"Songs Mother Used to Sing"

GRAYLING TROUNCES EAST TAWAS FIVE

LOCALS ALSO VICTORS AT MAN-CELONA

Harrison got the tip-off at center. Emery took the ball and shot a pass to Sherman. Stub dropped the leather through the loop deftly, scarcely disturbing the meshes. The Grayling scoreboard showed the first of a long succession of baskets, East Tawas lost their air of confidence, and the local crowd got its first chance to cheer. And that's the story of the game that was played at the local high school gym last Saturday night. The final count was 38-14, and by the time the end came the Grayling team had thoroughly demonstrated its efficiency as a unit, while East Tawas achieved its total with difficulty and at the conclusion had little glory to cheer the homeward trip.

To insinuate that Harrison, Emery and Sherman accounted for the outcome would be an injustice. They were cogs in a machine that clicked with a regularity and a precision that was noticeable. At the end of the game the Grayling regulars had all located the hoop from scrimmage and the Cushman coached combination had stammered its way to an easy win.

East Tawas offered stubborn resistance on their own floor, but were never dangerous in their local appearance. They never threatened at all seriously on the offense and their defense was futile in the face of the attack which the Northern Lights directed at it. Only one man figured largely in the scoring and he accounted for ten points. The other two baskets were the result of work of two of his teammates. Durant was the opposition's big threat, and he was far from dangerous.

The Grayling team worked smoothly, rolling up points easily, and yet not cashing in on all their chances. For the final period the Northern Lights amassed sixteen points to a zero for their opposition. The second quarter produced but six points and the third but four. The final stanza found the locals spotting the net with an almost monotonous regularity and the tally jumped.

As a game the exhibition had but little interest. It was too little a matter of doubt. The only thing that could have aroused speculation was the final size of the score. East Tawas recognized this also and sent in a flock of substitutes to give them a taste of battle. They had no trouble in locating things to occupy their minds.

TRIED TO BLOCK SKI JUMP ON EVE OF CARNIVAL

The Winter Sports committee had to take the bull by the horns when John Billings claimed damage to his lots on the hill slide due to the cutting of trees to make way for the ski jump. He claimed that 48 trees had been cut and intended to the editor of the Avalanche that they were worth $25 each. He endeavored to force payment of the damage it is claimed by intimidation that he would tie up the ski jump during the carnival. He was interviewed by some of our citizens who were interested in the affair but he stood pat and we understand would take $75 in payment of the damage.

A citizen's meeting was called at the Board of Trade rooms Friday night (last) before the carnival and the matter was considered. Mr. Billings was present. It was proposed that he wait until the snow was off then any trees that had been cut down would be replaced.

Clarence Johnson under whose direction the trees were cut says that at the time he did not know that he was on the Billings' lots. He made his measurements from the J. H. Stoelker cottage but later it was found that that building was partly in the street. He explained to Mr. Billings that it was only a mistake and that it would be corrected if he would wait until the snow was off and the lot lines might be established to the satisfaction of the sports committee. Johnson said that he believes that not more than 8 trees had been cut on the Billings' lots.

Mr. Billings didn't seem inclined to want to settle in any other way than a cash settlement and claimed the lots to be worth $10,000, and intimated that the damage done was considerable. The matter was discussed in a clean businesslike way but Billings seemed to be out of tune with the proposal by the citizens. When asked just what he wanted us to do he failed to reply and left in an apparent huff.

The next morning found a fence built across the ski-jump track. An injunction was served that forenoon on Billings warning him to keep hands off. The fence was removed and Billings warned by Sheriff Bohmeyer that if he made any further trouble that he would let him board in jail until Monday. He then admitted that he was whipped, and no further trouble was had in the affair.

Certainly Mr. Billings had a legal right to protest on the cutting of the trees and perhaps might expect repairs for damage done. Nobody will deny that. These lots are quite remote from the lake and we believe hardly worth the price claimed by the owner. In fact similar lots have sold, it was said that night, for about $20 each. The very activity that is going on in the vicinity of these lots is inductive to increased valuation. The loss of the trees is of some value, certainly, but if one will look over the list of donors to the winter sports and see what is paid in by individuals who in turn get nothing for it, one cannot help but feel that there was little public spirit shown by the owner of the lots in trying to tie up the carnival at the 11th hour. Citizens gave money in sums of from $5 to $50 to help out financially for the good of the carnival, and scores of individuals give generously of their time and service for the carnival, and as far as we know nobody got any pay for it, except a few who were hired to do the hard work of building and keeping up the slide or furnished supplies.

Mr. Billings should be repaid for his loss, if there is one, by the replacement of trees. If he prefers them placed on some other spot on the same lots, no doubt the committee wants to be fair but we also believe that the attempt to tie up the ski-jump on the eve of the carnival justifies some of the criticism that has been heard against the perpetrator.

FURNISHES ROOM AT MERCY HOSPITAL

Mrs. H. B. Marshall, prominent Toledo, Ohio woman, has just finished redecorating and furnishing one of the rooms at the Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Marshall is one of our summer residents, coming here each summer to reside on the AuSable river. She has had relatives and friends who have received treatment at our hospital and while visiting them became acquainted with the Sisters and wanted to do something for them.

The room is located on the second floor, having north and west exposure. The ceiling is cream color, with tan walls and ivory woodwork. It is equipped with Simmons highly specialized hospital furniture consisting of twin beds, chest of drawers with mirror above it, writing desk and chair, night stand between the beds and double wardrobe. These pieces of furniture are all finished in a beautiful shade of soft green and are of neat construction. Green rugs cover the oak floor, an oblong one under each bed with an oval one between. Dainty cream color curtains cover the windows while drapes in deeper cream with a small rose figure cover them.

A screen having a green frame and filled with ivory colored material adds an attractive touch to this room. You will find a very comfortable green leather easy chair with ottoman to match and a bench has been made to cover the low steam radiator which is complete with cushion making it a comfortable window seat.

Beautiful pictures cover the walls and all the little things such as a bookshelf full of books, a magazine rack, fernery with growing plant, floor lamp and two boudoir lamps having a deep cream shade decorated in rose, a clock and a silver mounted water set go to make this room complete. The desk is furnished with a desk set which includes a fountain pen and is completely supplied with writing materials. A green colored ivory toilet set lies on the chest of drawers and a most convenient adjustable table for serving meals or tipped to hold reading matter will lighten the hours of the patient fortunate enough to secure this lovely room. Most convenient night lamps are placed at the head of each bed. They are equipped with different sized bulbs, making it easy to have either a very dim light or a brilliant one as desired. Bed lamps and a brass smoking set completes the appointments and in viewing this room as a whole it has a very charming aspect.

Mrs. Marshall said she had in mind a room which boys and young men would find pleasing but did not limit the occupants to such. We are sure her object of creating a homelike atmosphere together with the wonderful care one receives at this hospital will shorten the stay of many. Mrs. Marshall also has many plans for the ward which she will carry out very soon. She is also interesting others in this work. We are all grateful to Mrs. Marshall for the interest she has taken in us and for the gifts given to Mercy Hospital.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

Mrs. Marjory McNamara was hostess to the members of the Woman's Club last Monday evening. During the business meeting, plans for the annual Mother and Daughter banquet to be held early in March were discussed.

"Citizenship and Government" was the general theme of the meeting, and three papers following this subject were read. In her talk "Citizenship," Miss Lewis stressed the fact that good citizenship was synonymous with proper conduct. Mrs. Anna Heribson traced our constitution from its early formation to its application to present day problems such as international peace. Miss Hildebrand presented the fundamental facts about "City and Town Government."

Miss Ingeborg Hanson is to be hostess for next week's meeting.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

W. H. Taft, III, Quits as Chief Justice and Hughes Named to Succeed Him.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, returning to Washington from Asheville a very sick man, sent in his resignation as chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. It was at once accepted by President Hoover with expressions of deep regret and of sympathy for Mr. Taft's condition, and Charles Evans Hughes was appointed his successor.

Though the entire matter seemed sudden, it was learned that the President had been informed of Mr. Taft's intention several weeks before and that Mr. Hughes had conferred with Mr. Hoover several times before accepting the appointment.

Mr. Taft's physicians admitted that he was seriously ill, and though toward the close of the week his condition appeared to have improved, they held out little hope for his recovery. They said that for some years he had had very high blood pressure associated with general arteriosclerosis and myocarditis and also had a chronic cystitis. President and Mrs. Hoover called on him the day after his return from the South, and so did several of the Supreme court justices. There was a constant stream of other callers at the Taft residence but of course most of them merely left messages of greeting and cheer. Mr. Taft's retirement closed a public career unparalleled in this country. For nearly fifty years he served the people, in offices ranging from an assistant prosecuting attorney to President of the republic and head of its highest tribunal. He was the first civil governor general of the Philippine Islands and was secretary of war under President Roosevelt. He was appointed by President Wilson as chief justice in 1921. In accordance with a law passed at the last session of congress, he retires with his full salary of $20,600 a year.

Mr. Hughes, presumably will take office when the Supreme court reconvenes on February 24. His appointment is the climax of a record in the public service almost as remarkable as that of his predecessor. He has held some of the highest offices within the reach of an American citizen, having fallen short only of the Presidency, for which he was the unsuccessful Republican candidate in 1916 against Woodrow Wilson. To make that campaign he resigned as associate justice of the Supreme court, to which position he had been appointed by President Roosevelt in 1910. About a year ago he was selected as a judge of the world court and spent last summer sitting at The Hague. From March 4, 1921, to March 4, 1925, he was secretary of state in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets, retiring voluntarily.

As a matter of propriety, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., will now resign as solicitor general of the United States, and it has been suggested that President Hoover may select as his successor Mr. Taft's son, Robert A. Taft, who is now district attorney at Cincinnati.

PASCUAL ORTIZ RUBIO was inaugurated president of Mexico Wednesday with simple ceremonies, and as he was leaving the national stadium an attempt was made to assassinate him, which was quite in accord with Mexican tradition. A young man standing behind a line of soldiers at the gate of honor emptied his revolver into the presidential car. Ortiz Rubio was shot through the cheek, the bullet lodging in the left jaw. His wife and niece and his military aide were slightly wounded, as was the chauffeur who nevertheless stepped on the accelerator and carried his passengers swiftly to a Red Cross hospital. A few hours later the surgeons announced that the president was out of danger.

The assassin was seized by the police and said he was Daniel Flores of San Luis Potosi state and was a follower of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the presidency. He refused to say why he had tried to kill Ortiz Rubio, but the authorities were satisfied that it was a plot of the "Vasconcelistas." This was the view, also, of Portes Gil, retiring president, who told newspaper men that Senora de Ortiz Rubio received an unsigned letter a few days ago which said her husband would not live to be inaugurated.

Only a week before the shooting the federal district authorities announced they had frustrated one such Vasconcelista plot with the arrest of nineteen persons who allegedly planned to assassinate both Senor Ortiz Rubio and Senor Portes Gil and seize the government. If that was the plan at this instance, events did not develop as was hoped, for Mexico City, except for an air of anxiety for the president's safety, was quiet with little or no indication that anything unusual had happened.

MICHIGAN 4TH IN DAILY PRODUCTION OF OIL

While Michigan ranked 18th among the 19 states in the United States producing oil in 1928, it had jumped to 13th place last year, according to national compilations received by the Geological Survey Division of the Department of Conservation.

The production for Michigan last year has been estimated at approximately 5,000,000 barrels of oil.

In the amount of oil produced per well per day in 1929, Michigan ranked fourth among the 19 oil producing states, the statistics show.

Only California, Texas and Colorado ranked higher than Michigan last year for the daily average production per well.

IF MISERY LOVES COMPANY

The defeated teams in the basketball games at the High School gym last Saturday night need feel no discouragement over the scores. Ohio State University lost to Purdue recently by a score of 14 to 60.

A RARE OCCURRENCE

The Space Filler attended church service last Sunday evening (No. this was not the "rare occurrence," for he does more or less frequently attend.) The "rarrrrry" of the occasion was the fact of being overlooked by the contribution collector in a Methodist church, and it wasn't because of the overcrowded condition of the pews either for he constituted four per cent of the congregation.

THE CAT COMES BACK

The writer remembers a sort of crusade being started not so many years ago, against house cats. Awful word-pictures were painted of the numerous diseases and ills to both children and grownups for which "pussy" was said to be responsible by distributing the various germs and microbes gathered in her perambulations around the neighborhood. And now comes Dr. E. Falier of the French Academy of Medicine with the information that cats prevent pneumonia. He says that every family should keep at least one cat. Hurrah for "Thomas" and "Mariar."

LATEST THINGS IN PAJAMAS

West Palm Beach, Fla., is putting on a golf tournament in which it is mandatory that all of the participants while on the course must be clad in pajamas of some variety and color. I wonder if any of the entrants will hesitate about participating for the same reason that a citizen of Grayling gave for not indulging in tobogganing—that he had only one pair of pants.

SMALL POTATOES

A town that has received liberal and gratuitous advertising as being the home of "The Big Potato Show" certainly dished up some very "small potatoes" when it put its "taboo" on all advertising or laudatory mention of a neighboring town's winter carnival.

AND I DON'T MEAN MAYBE

We had two extra fine "space fillers" this week—the Lumberjack Feed at the Lake, and the Fathers and Sons banquet at the church.

Old Customs Survive

It is still the custom in England to burn the effigy of Guy Fawkes on the fifth of November. Guy Fawkes day.

STEALING DAYS

February was the month which was cheated. It has only 28 days except when the leap year comes along with an additional day.

When the Roman calendar was made up, Julius Caesar wished a month that was good and long. Thus he clipped a day from February and put it in July.

Augustus Caesar did not wish to be outdone. He was to have a month and he wished one that would be just as long as the one that was to be for Julius. Thus another day was stolen from the second month of the year and August had its 31 days.

In olden days even the calendar was not exempt from the wishes of kings and emperors.

HOW FORD METHODS CUT COST OF DISTRIBUTION

Lower profits in selling save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in manufacturing

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago the Ford Motor Company was formed to provide reliable, economical transportation for all the people. That original purpose has never changed. The constant effort in every activity is to find ways to give you greater and greater value without extra cost—frequently at lowered cost. This applies to distribution and similar important factors, as well as manufacture.

For the Ford Motor Company believes that its full duty is not only to make a good automobile at the lowest possible price, but to see that there is no waste, extravagance, or undue profit in any transaction from the time the car leaves the factory until it is delivered to your home. It is obvious that hard-won savings in production will be of little value if they are sacrificed later through excessive selling costs.

EVERY purchaser of a motor car has the right to know how much of the money he pays is for the car itself and how much is taken up by dealer charges. If these charges are too high, one of two things must happen.
Either the price of the car must be raised or the quality lowered. There is no other way. The money must come from somewhere.

In the case of the Ford, the low charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories mean a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser in addition to the still greater savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.

The profit margin on the Ford car has always been fair to both the dealer and the public. Within the past three months, it has been possible to effect still further economies. Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes right off the price you pay for the car.

THE business of the Ford dealer is good because he makes a small profit on a large number of sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. He knows, too, that the extra dollar-for-dollar value of the car makes it easier to sell and more certain to give satisfactory service after purchase.

Consider also that the Ford car is delivered to the purchaser equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, an extra steel-spoke wheel, and bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes.

If for any reason you wish to buy certain small accessories, you will find that these, too, are sold at the usual Ford low prices. Replacement parts are also available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the country.

THESE are important points to remember in considering the purchase of a motor car. They show why it is possible to put so much extra quality into the new Ford and still maintain the low price. They are also the reasons why more than 35% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

ENDURANCE TESTS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

I suppose that even the pre-historic and pre-civilization times human beings lived with each other to see which could the longer endure certain physical or mental strains though never more so than now. Some times, possibly, there was virtue and progress in such contests; some times there was only the satisfaction of vanity or the winning of a prize contributed by those who are willing to give prizes to see some one else suffer, or make a fool of himself in testing his endurance. The athletic contest of today is often little more than an endurance test. We want to see who can run the farthest or stay in the game the longest or lift the most, or do something of the athletic value of which is often questionable.

When I was a boy we used often to see who could hold his breath the longest under water. So far as I could see then or even now with the widened perspective of intervening years, there was no advantage to anyone either then or later. In one's hold log his breath an unbelievable period of time, excepting as one could boast about doing without oxygen longer than the other boys.

I have just read in the evening paper an account of a man in Colorado, who, for the good of his body or his soul, had fasted for a full calendar month, and had reduced his weight by half, and out-fasted all of his competitors. It is true that when he broke his fast he did so with such eagerness that it resulted in his death. It must have been a great satisfaction to him, however, to realize that he had been able to do without food longer than any of his friends.

For years we had ambitious people risking their lives and their health in an attempt to swim the English channel. Finally some super-human individual succeeded, and now it is no feat at all to swim across this rather turbulent water way. Why anyone should want to do it, and what virtue or good of any sort there is in that endeavor when it has been accomplished, I cannot see.

Just recently a fellow townsman of mine won a rocking contest. For an impossible number of days and nights, with only brief intervals for rest, he sat in a rocking chair keeping up a constant motion while neighbors and curious onlookers bet on the outcome, or paid to see how long he could keep up the motion. And now I am told she is staying rocking marathons. Of what value such a contest can be to society or to the human race I fail to see.

There may be some value in seeing how long an airplane can remain in the air without fueling, or how fast a horse or an automobile can get over the ground, but how many hours or days two people can dance for instance, without food or sleep, seems to me of no value or real interest to anyone.

LAW HELD VALID
A tax of five per cent on the gross receipts of common carriers of freight by motor vehicles along public highways over regular routes, has been held valid by the United States supreme court.

The operators of such freight lines opposed the tax on the ground that a similar levy was not made against other freight carriers, but the supreme court held that the different classification was justified because of the more frequent use of the highways and the consequent destruction thereof, as well as because of the additional dangers placed upon the public.

This seems to point the way by which states can make the common carriers using automobiles and trucks regularly pay something to help keep the roads in repair. This is fair because the autos compete with the railroads, and the latter have to maintain their own tracks, while at the same time help to pay the general taxes.

The Care of Your Money

MAKE USE OF YOUR OPPORTUNITIES

We are considered to be a happy loving and a spendthrift nation. We spend three billion dollars a year on automobiles, another three billion dollars on tobacco and another three billion dollars on candy, soft drinks, ice cream and chewing gum. We spend more for luxuries than we do for education.

In no other country are people so highly paid for their work and services and the average wage earner gains more than the minimum needed for absolute essentials. The majority gain considerably more than bread, butter and shelter.

Practically every employed person is in a position to achieve his own economic independence if he takes advantage of doing so in a realistic and timely manner.

Too many people give a casual thought to buying a bond "when they have money to spare." Because they think of $1,000 or $500 as large amounts they put off the purchase of that bond, and get no more.

Of late years investment bankers have gone to the rescue, endeavoring to make it easy for the average person to buy bonds. One of the ways in which they helped was by the issuance of baby bonds—$100 denominations—and another, still better way, is the partial payment method of buying bonds. A regular savings account is opened for the specific purpose of buying bonds with the amount so accumulated. These savings-investment accounts help the investor to save a portion of his income regularly by entering a contract definitely to buy a bond of a specified amount in a given period of time.

Usually the investor deposits ten per cent of the face value of the bond each month, but receives a liberal interest on each payment from the date deposited.

If the hope of saving the bonds and money is the plan is an established investment, banking house of high repute and the bonds adequately safeguarded. Strains Brothers Investment Institute knows of no better way to build an investment fund that means independence in the future to its possessor.

It is worth every employed person's while to plan for the "glorious privilege of being independent." One might almost say it is every employed person's duty to plan for it in so far as he is able.

Our most ardent plan is an old-established investment, banking house of high repute and the bonds adequately safeguarded. Strains Brothers Investment Institute knows of no better way to build an investment fund that means independence in the future to its possessor.

U. OF M. TO COOPERATE WITH CONSERVATION DEPT.
In the future all of the scientific investigations of the Department of Conservation into game fish problems will be carried on in cooperation with the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, it is announced by Director George R. Hogarth.

Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, curator of fishes of the University Museum, has been named to direct the scientific investigations of the Department's fish division. He will organize all investigations, working in close touch with the Conservation Department.

Decision of the Department to turn over all scientific investigations to Dr. Hubbs and those whom he will select as assistants, follows indirectly the death last fall of Dr. Jan Metzelaar, ichthyologist of the Fish Division. Dr. Metzelaar was carrying on several important investigations at the time of his death. These investigations will now be taken up and carried to conclusion.

Among the important investigations to be taken over by the Bureau of Scientific Investigations will be the continuance of the lake and stream survey, on which considerable work has been done during the past few years. The Bureau will carry on Dr. Metzelaar's study of the food of various species of fish. Experiments in the study of fish migrations will also be continued.

A study of the perch will be inaugurated, to determine chiefly whether dwarfed perch are the result of conditions or of inheritance.

Routine work of the new Bureau will include investigations of diseases and conditions in hatcheries and rearing ponds; and the supervision of chemical, sanitary, and productive operations in the various state hatcheries. The headquarters of the new Bureau will be located at the University Museum, Ann Arbor.

SINCE WASHINGTON'S TIME

The coming of February 22 not only reminds us again of the birthday of the Father of Our Country and our debt of gratitude to him; the date is also significant for the changes it calls to mind in the structure of the United States. We have come far since the lifetime of George Washington, in size, population, and world esteem, in commerce and industry, in the arts and sciences. February 22 tempts one to compare 1930 with the seventeen-hundred, and to glory in the story of accomplishment that is represented by the many advantages we possess today over the pioneers of that time.

Not by any means the least of these advantages is the superior protection against illness and disease enjoyed today. Just how far we have come in the 188 years since the birth of Washington in protecting health is illustrated by one or two happenings in Washington's own life.

In 1751 George went to the Barbados with his sick half-brother, Lawrence, in the hope that a change in climate would improve the sick man's health. His diary relates the following: "This morning received a card from Major Clarke, welcoming me to Barbados, with an invitation to dine with him. We went—myself with some reluctance, as the smallpox was in his family. Mrs. Clarke was much indisposed, inasmuch that we had not the pleasure of her company. Was strongly attacked with the smallpox; sent for Dr. Lanagan whose attendance was very constant until my recovery and going out, which was not till Thursday, the 12th of December (from Nov. 17th)."

Lawrence was suffering from tuberculosis and it was partly due to his death from that disease shortly after the Barbados trip that George, the younger son, came into possession of historic Mount Vernon. Had this Washington possessed the knowledge about tuberculosis that is common property today, the life of Lawrence might have been saved, as well as that of George's step-daughter, Patsy, who died of the same cause. Likewise, had modern knowledge prevailed then, a dinner party would not have been given in a house with smallpox, and George Washington would not have contracted this illness.

The work of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has done much to take from tuberculosis its dire significance of Washington's era, and the efforts of other health organizations have been singularly rewarded, as in the case of smallpox. Yet there is no cause for resting on laurels now won. Rather, the challenge to be answered is: "How much more will have been won in the battle against needless disease when another two centuries have been added to the time since Washington's birthday?"

Radio Messages First Sent During Civil War

While Marconi generally is credited with being the inventor of wireless telegraphy, the first radio messages were sent during the Civil war, says O. Francis Jenkins, veteran inventor.

"Although Prof. Joseph Henry, in 1832, discovered that electrical oscillations could be detected a considerable distance from the oscillator, it remained for a Washington dentist, Dr. Mahan Loomis, actually to send the first radio messages," Mr. Jenkins said.

"In 1855 he built an oscillating circuit and connected it to a wire aerial supported by a kite. One station was set up on Bear Den mountain, Va., not very far from Washington, and a duplicate station was set up on top of Catoctin spur, 15 miles distant.

"Messages were sent alternately from one station to the other by dot and dash interruption of a buzzer spark circuit. Reception was attained by detecting a galvanometer needle at the receiving point."

In 1859 a bill was introduced in congress to incorporate the Loomis Aerial Telegraph company. Nobody would buy the stock and it remained for others, years later, to reap the reward of radio broadcasting. Mr. Jenkins says.

Seized Opportunity to Use That "Cuss Word"

There was a little girl in West Philadelphia who aspired to cuss words. Only she had been brought up to know that they were very bad. Still, she was ambitious.

One day very recently this young lady of seven years saw the opportunity of a young life. The housemaid was in her room and did not want to be disturbed. The little miss sought to enter. She grew angry when she discovered that the door was locked.

"Let me in, Annie!" she yelled. The housemaid told her to run along.

"Let me in," persisted the youngster. "If you don't let me in I hope you'll die." Still no result.

"If you die I hope you can't get to heaven," The threat was futile.

"Then you can go to hell!" And, having said what she wanted to say, the young lady went about her business. Philadelphia Record.

Honesty
Absolute, unswerving honesty carries the greatest power in the universe to bring results in business or out, and in all things. The dishonest man may gain money through deceit and trickery, but trickery and deceit ultimately bring disease and death to the body. There is a material honesty which prompts us to do what is right by our fellows; there is a higher and spiritual honesty which concerns our dealing with ourselves, and this reaches much further than that which refuses to steal and pays its bills regularly. It implies an earnest desire to know the right way to live. Practice Method.

Took Pledge to Live in Companionate Union

The custom of plighting one's truth is a very ancient one, writes Frank U. Vitzely, editor of the New Standard dictionary. It dates from Biblical times. Among the Greeks, prenuptial and marriage vows are said to date from the time of King Cyprius, 185 B. C. Marriage itself is of divine institution, according to the second chapter of Genesis, and confirmed by Christ in the tenth chapter of the Gospel of St. Mark.

Among the ancient Danes there was a quaint custom called hand-fasting—the putting of the hand of the bride-to-be into the fist of the future bridegroom. It is referred to by Ray in his "Glossary of Northumbria." Traces of it were noted by Brand as existing in certain English villages in his time, and from his comments it appears to have been a pledge to live together for a definite period. In late as 1794, at the annual fair held in Dumfries, Scotland, it was customary for unmarried persons of both sexes to select a mate to their liking with whom they would live until that time the next year. If, at that time, they were still pleased with each other, they continued to live together for life. If not, they separated, and were free to make another choice.

Family Names Ascribed to Shop Designations

One of the ways in which family names came into existence was their use to distinguish the shops of tradesmen.

They were not numbered as they are today, but carried signs bearing various distinguishing devices. Figures of birds, flowers, animals and other common objects were used for this purpose.

As a consequence the owners of the shops became known as Tom of the Finch, Will of the Fox, Harold of the Hart, and other such names.

From this practice descended the family names like Finch, Fox, Hart, Swan, Wolf, Fish and Pike.

Many of these still survive, but in America, shortly after the Revolution, there were a large number which have since disappeared because of their in-sulting or absurd allusions.

Light on Early History
Arab and European scholars are deeply interested in a genuine illuminated volume belonging to the works of El-Bekri, famous Arab geographer and historian of the early days of Morocco, which was discovered in a native shop in Marrakech.

This work dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century and is artistic in its rich colorations. Authorities have ordered the removal of the history to the library of Cherif El-Kittani, at Fez, where are kept other famous documents relating to civilization in North Africa.—Washington Star.

Spanish Leather Treasures
Cordova leather has been famous for many centuries. Specimens of ancient Cordova leather that are still in existence are considered great treasures.

The wonderful tapestries that once adorned the Alhambra and other palaces of ancient days, were made of Cordova leather, stamped, gilded and painted.

It is known that the leather workers of Cordova, Spain, used to hold the catkins and sheepskins, and then treat the leather in many different and now forgotten ways.

Goats Among Sheep
It has been common practice among shepherds in parts of the West to keep goats among the sheep on the assumption that they would be more aggressive in driving off dogs or predatory animals. They are also used as leaders of the sheep. Just how successful this practice is, is not known so far as the goats' ability to drive off dogs or predatory animals is concerned. It is known that losses from this source occur in herds where these animals are kept with the flock.

Explaining Old Expression
The old-fashioned boots that were worn commonly before the days of shoes, and which are still worn by horseback riders and army officers, had straps at the sides to take hold of when the boots were pulled on. It is manifestly impossible for a person standing in his boots to lift himself by pulling up on the bootstraps, and therefore the expression originated: "It is like trying to lift yourself by your bootstraps" when referring to something impossible of accomplishment.

Personal Pronouns
An authority on correct English speaks as follows in regard to the position of personal pronouns connected by the conjunction: "When two or more personal pronouns in the singular are connected by 'and,' the second precedes the first and the third, and the third person precedes the first. When the pronouns are used together in the plural number, the first person precedes the second and the third, and the second person precedes the third."

Good by Any Name
The reason for the name given the strawberry is not known definitely, but may have been because straw was used to protect the plants, or more probably the word is a corruption of strawberry, so named because of the manner in which the plants throw out runners.

TEMPERANCE REVIVALS

After ten years the Anti-Saloon League has decided to return to the old-fashioned method of fighting the liquor evil.

R. N. Holsapple, head of the Michigan organization, announces that a series of temperance revival meetings will be held in several Michigan cities and if the plan works out every city will be visited by his flying crusaders.

During these meetings cards pledging total abstinence will be passed out and as many signers as possible secured in this manner. Rev. Holsapple intends leaving the enforcement of the prohibition laws in other hands while he is engaged in this more expeditious task of recruiting new members to the dry cause.

We doubt the effectiveness of such a campaign. Recruits secured through the hysterical pleadings of Rev. Holsapple and his aides will scarcely have the same sense of conversion to the dry cause our elders had in the days when the mothers of the nation handled the work of "snatching the brands from the burning."

This work should never have been taken from them in the first place. When reformers broke into the picture and tried to accomplish through legislation what had formerly been done by moral persuasion the real workers ceased most of their activities. This mistake is now apparent. In spite of the most drastic prohibition laws of any state in the union we have failed to settle the drink problem. It is just as far from solution as it was ten years ago—many people think more so.

When the cause of temperance is again taken out of the hands of the reformers and returned to the home where it belongs, when we witness mothers in every community once more enlisting under the stainless banner of the W. C. T. U., then we will begin to look for some permanent accomplishments in the battle to make America a temperate nation.

BAY CITY FIVE COMING SATURDAY

FAST GAME PROMISED WITH IN-DEPENDENTS

A re-vamped All-City team will take the floor Saturday night against the speedy Bay City West Side Merchants in a basketball card that deserves the attention of fans in this region. As a further inducement the High School Reserves will tangle with the Gaylord Boy Scout team in what promises to be a hard fought game.
The Bay City team has built up an enviable reputation for itself in their region and has a string of sensational victories to its credit. They are backed by the local management in an effort to show fans of this region the best talent obtainable. Needless to say the support of the public is necessary to the promotion of such an attraction. Every effort has been made to give Grayling a first-rate program of good basketball.

The Gaylord scout team has been playing steadily all winter and has met and defeated some of the small high school teams. They should prove to be a good opponent for the local reserve team which has and can play good ball.

The local All-City will contain some new talent for this game, which should prove to be as tough an engagement as will be faced in all season. The team which defeated Standish so thoroughly in the last game will be in readiness for action but it is more than likely that a new combination will have to be formed to present the strongest possible front to the invaders. Be on hand to see the issue settled.

There will be a Tackey dance at the Grayling High School gymnasium
February 14, given by the ladies of St. Mary's Altar society.

WINTER CARNIVAL WAS

HUGE SUCCESS

Miss Lietz was dressed in a white sweater and cap and trousers of royal blue and yellow. Her pleasant smile and merry manner added to her attractiveness. Each young lady was given a hearty applause as she arose in response to her introduction.

No sooner had the queen and her escort descended from the throne than invitations were extended to them by the aviators to have a ride in the planes, and acceptances were just as readily made. And each reported a wonderful flight.

At the conclusion of the coronation the toboggan slides became active and soon hundreds of swift toboggans were gliding over the icy inclines. There was speed enough to thrill the most experienced of riders and everyone seemed to be having the time of his life. Extra toboggans had been loaned by local owners and turned over to the visitors and at no time was there any lack of opportunities to ride. A lot of credit is due to our own citizens for their courtesy in yielding their own personal pleasures in order that outsiders might enjoy the day.

The ski jump too had its share of attraction, and also the bobsled course. All were actively enjoyed all afternoon. In the evening Al's Syncopators furnished music and quite a number enjoyed dancing in the pavilion. However, the toboggan was the great attraction, and the slides were kept polished until late in the night. Vari-colored lights turned the snow into a night fairland and there was nothing lacking that might be asked for by the most fastidious revelers.

Sunday Program of Sports

All kinds of estimates were heard as to the number of people at the lake, ranging from 1000 to 3000 on Saturday. It was indeed a fine crowd that day but it required the next day to make the big record. While Saturday's crowd was large, Sunday's crowd was more than double. Autos were parked each side of the highway for more than three-quarters of a mile, and the grounds about the pavilion also were filled. A 3000 estimate we believe would not have been much too great that day.

Sunday started out bright and clear but by the middle of the afternoon there was a sharp wind which blew and tossed the light snow into clouds and the air was windy indeed. However, this didn't seem to dampen the most daring and the fun went on just the same. The wind did interfere somewhat with the contests and the skating contest was abandoned. The winners of the events were as follows: Mrs. Esborn Olson, wooden bobsled; toboggan race for speed; Donald Gottho, steel bottomed toboggan race for speed; Walter Blaque, Bay City, wooden bottomed toboggan race for distance; Nadine McNeven, steel bottomed toboggan race for distance; Robert Funk, ski jump; Jack Callahan, boys' ski race; Antoine Kangas, men's ski race.

The five Bay City airplanes were prepared during the afternoon to spend the night on the wind-swept ice of the lake, unable to take off for the return trip.

Lumberjack Dinner

Despite the shivery gale, hundreds of merry-makers stayed at the lake for the lumberjack dinner, which closed the carnival. Peter and Paul Lovely, French Canadian lumber camp cooks, prepared the huge meal in the little kitchen of the pavilion and brought steaming dishes onto the tables while hungry spectators stood just outside the rail waiting the word to dash in.

Out-Eat Jacks

They had had 34 years experience in lumber camps and were used to feeding hollow people, but Pete Lovely remarked as he saw the carnival guests attack the food, "My gosh, lumberjacks haven't anything on that gang."

The food was served by a group of young ladies and a few members of the Board of Trade.

Notes of the Carnival

Leon L. Yealey and H. C. Young arrived in the morning with the brilliant orange glider owned by the Bay City Glider club, but it was decided not to risk breaking the ship up in the blizzard and it was loaded on the truck in the afternoon and taken back to Bay City.

Sherrill Bohemeyer says the jubilee first planned to celebrate this birthday Amos 'n Andy to 15 days in a soap house with muzzles on, but knowing Andy's fondness for chicken broth they didn't dare to take the chance of a riot.

It seems that Amos 'n Andy provoked many smiles and also some frowns for one woman was heard to say that she couldn't see any reason for the sheriff arresting them, especially while they were taking part in the parade, and that the sheriff was probably only looking for some "easy money."

Well, the big show is over, and it ended in a blaze of glory Sunday night. They came from far and near and once more we have captured them with our Grayling hospitality.

Count Bon Opal and his wife drove up from Saginaw with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morley Saturday and were Mr. Morley's guests at his summer home at Higgins Lake. Sunday they motored to Grayling and participated in our Winter Sports at Lake Margrethe. Count Von Opel expressed himself on the beauty and setting of our winter sports and wonderful highways and the general beauty of the country in and around Grayling. He said "It is marvelous that people can mingle with each other in such a beautiful place and enjoy such helpful recreation together and be further expressed himself as being particularly impressed at the friendliness of the people of the North Country. Count Von Opel is spending a year in America studying American methods pertaining to motor car and airplane manufacture and is the inventor of the rocket plane."

The Bay City Times, who has been so very loyal to us and who has cooperated with us and given us such wide publicity was represented here by Mr. Glenn MacDonald and Miss Helen Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Marston, manager of N. E. Michigan Development Bureau and his wife motored up from Bay City and attended the carnival. Mr. Marston has never overlooked an opportunity to sponsor our causes and has done much towards making our carnival a success.

The Eastern Michigan Tourist Association was represented by Miss Banta, their feature writer.

Mr. Abe Dalzell, professor of Mechanics of Central High School, Bay City was instrumental in arranging for five airplanes and a glider to help in entertaining our visitors and they were one of the main features of our big show. There were eleven in the party of flyers and all expressed themselves as being well pleased with their visit. Unfortunately wind conditions were such that they were unable to give a glider demonstration while here.

Mr. John Windiate and Mr. John Zimmerman, prominent business men of Flint, Michigan, arrived Friday for the carnival and are still here at this writing and are stopping at Shoppenagons Inn. Mr. Windiate owns a summer home on the South Branch and Mr. Zimmerman has his summer home at Higgins Lake. Both of these gentlemen have been coming here for years and have a wide circle of friends in our community. Both are members of St. Helen Shooting club.

Mr. A. E. Michelson and Mr. F. L. Michelson entertained a party of friends from Detroit at Sunrise Club over the week end. Mr. Chas. Fehr acted as chef and chief guide for the party.

Bay City provided the most visitors, something like two hundred registering from there. Mrs. Harold McNeven was in charge of the registration book and handled her job very efficiently and saw to it that all who used toboggans were duly registered and many more of our visitors. Our registration book will prove to be very interesting reading in the future.

Cadillac and Alpena phoned for a hockey match and were disappointed in learning that we did not have a hockey rink or team. This is a feature we must try to add to next year's program.

Detroit News sent as their representatives Mr. Kenneth Kimball, writer, and Mr. Brooks, photographer. Both of these gentlemen were very affable and expressed themselves as being surprised and delighted with what we were doing here to provide pleasure for the people of our State with such healthful recreation and in such a pleasant environment. They said the News would always be with us and were pleased that we did not attempt to operate for commercial gain but rather for the pleasure of the people. Some communities they said commercialized their winter sports program too much to suit them. Mr. Kimball expects to spend some time here next summer on the AuSable and write a series of stories of this famous river—for Field and Stream.

Mr. Cassidy reports that on Monday of this week he received a letter from Detroit reserving rooms for a party of twenty who will arrive here next Saturday remaining until Sunday night. This reservation coming in so early in the week leads us to believe that our Winter Sports entertainment here is receiving wide and favorable publicity. No doubt before the week is over the hotel will again be filled to capacity. We are fortunate in having in our community such comfortable and ably managed hotel as Shoppenagons Inn.

Mr. Craig, owner of our Model Bakery, purchased a large toboggan and contributed same to Board of Trade with his compliments for the entertainment of our visitors. Hanson Hardware Co. did likewise.

Mr. Harold McNeven and Mr. Clarence Johnson purchased toboggan bikes, something new, and contributed a great deal of amusement as they skated down the slide. Some of the aviators got a great kick piloting these small bikes down the slide. "Johnny" and "Spik" were right on the job night and day and when the big show ended they were all tried out from work and worry but happy in the thoughts that their efforts were not in vain and that the carnival was such a success. This in itself was compensation enough for them and they retired from the scene of action Sunday night tired but happy. The same may be said of each and every member of the Winter Sports committee, our directors and each and every member of Grayling Board of Trade.

Mr. Perkins arranged the street parade and he put over the biggest and best parade ever held through the streets of Grayling. He received the loyal cooperation of Mr. LaBarge, Mr. Cushman, our teachers and the entire student body. His feature Amos 'n Andy acted by George Olson and Frank Tetu and their "Fresh Air Taxi" was the feature of the parade and provided much amusement and especially so when they were "pinched" by Sheriff Bohemeyer for cutting in on the parade. The float of the queen was very beautiful and artistically executed.

Mayor Chris Olson and our own famous Rube Babbitt lead the parade, each carrying snowshoes. We can always depend on "Chris" and "Rube" to do their part for Grayling.

Peter and Paul Lovely provided the "lumberjack feed" and oh boy! what a hit that dinner did make with our visitors. Three times the tables seating ninety were filled to capacity. The menu was made up of tempting dishes which they have provided for the past thirty years in our logging camps and was served piping hot. Our visitors were served first and when the dinner hour sounded the rush for seats resembled a football squad in action. Peter and Paul surely won the hearts of our visitors with their wonderfully prepared meal.

Morgan Paige, W. Lewis, Earl Dawson, Chas. MacNamara expert logging camp cooks, ably assisted and demonstrated their former skill in serving the tables. These boys sure do know how to sling the hash.

Our famous big sheriff "Jess" was right on the job to help in directing the traffic. He was interviewed and photographed by the representatives of the Detroit News. Jess won the hearts of all by his good nature and bigness.

Nels Corwin furnished the cars for the transportation of the aviators to and from the hotel and was right on the job day and night to serve them. "Bill" Powell acted as Major Domo of the big show and made all of the announcements of the sporting events. Bill was quite thrilled when the five ships landed on the ice right in front of his summer home.

George H. Winkler of Saginaw brought up a party for the carnival and while here had them as house guests at his lodge near Kellogg on the North Branch. Mr. Winkler is very much enthused over our Winter sports and is a regular week end visitor.

Eugene Mathewson, genial Editor of Roscommon Herald-News arrived early with a large delegation from Roscommon to help boost our carnival. "Gene" has been giving us prominent publicity on the front page of his paper and has cooperated with us in every possible way to make our carnival a success.

Frank O. Rockwell of Gaylord arrived early and headed a nice delegation from that fair city. "Rocky" is well and favorably known here and is a very frequent visitor and is always welcome.

Our reporter was busy circulating in and out of the crowd to get first hand information as to how our show impressed the people from out of town. Everyone seemed satisfied and some were surprised that a village the size of Grayling could put on a show as elaborate as this one. The friendliness of our home town people made a great impression on our visitors.

We believe that we have justly earned the title of Capital City of Winter Sports and now we must prepare for a much larger carnival for 1931 and with that thought in mind let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and pull together for the glory and advancement of Grayling.

Due to the storm Sunday night the fireworks were omitted and manager Clarence Johnson says these will be used next Sunday night at 9:30 p. m. Also the two skating events that had to be postponed will be held next Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

James W. Perkins had charge of getting up the parade and everyone will agree that he did a most excellent job of it. He says the school cooperated very generously and provided the float "Northern Lights" that attracted much attention. Due to Mr. Perkins' efforts we presented a remarkably attractive and interesting parade. We are sure our citizens duly appreciate this service by Mr. Perkins whose only interest was in the interest of the community and it was given most courteously.

One of the hardest working individuals on the job was Pres. T. W. Hanson of the Board of Trade and general manager of the carnival. "T." worked hard and put in some late hours in putting the affair over. And he was right on the job to extend the glad welcome and to see that everyone was courteously entertained.

Another feature of the parade that wasn't mentioned above was the show made by some of our auto dealers. T. E. Douglas presented a fine brand new Nash car. Alfred Hanson a new Chevrolet, Corwin Auto Sales a new Essex car, Jess Schoonover with a fine Buick and the Avalanche with two decorated cars.

GRAYLING TROUNCES

EAST TAWAS FIVE

ing, which took an extra period to decide, on the Gaylord floor.

The night before the East Tawas massacre Grayling lifted a scalp at Manselona. The count was 26-14. The Northern Lights didn't twinkle very brightly in this game for the opponents held them to a narrow margin at half time and only gave way when the local representatives launched a third quarter drive that would not be denied and which brought the game to safety on the right side of the ledger. It was a rough game and both teams mixed freely.

Reserves Lose To St. Mary's
As a preliminary to the Saturday night ball the local Reserves took a 21 to 12 defeat at the hands of St. Mary's of Gaylord. The locals couldn't get under way in the first half and that cost them the game. They trailed by a margin of twelve points at half time. After the intermission they came back with a vengeance, to outscore their aggressive opponents by a count of five to eight. The game was gone however, and St. Mary's copped the victory.

St. Mary's incidentally, is an unbeaten team. They were a very creditable aggregation and played good ball. The dreadful McCoy brothers didn't figure very largely in the scoring but Center Dennis carried off high honors for the game. May, of the local club, stowed away six points, closely pressed by Pankow with two ducats. Koivane made the other basket. Loskos and Hunter held down the guards. Korhonen gave way to Pankow at the half and Koivane and Gottho alternated at forward, teamed with May.

SHORTENING THE WINTER

It is a good thing to have myths—like the groundhog prediction—especially when the signs and omens are favorable.

This time the old groundhog did not see his shadow on the 2nd. We feel encouraged. We know that we are to have just as much cold as we usually have. We also know that this old weather prophet might have seen his shadow 50 miles south or at the same distance to the north. Nevertheless, we feel very good over his prediction and we are already figuring how much we shall save on the fuel bill.

Such superstitions do no harm and they lighten life.

"Konjola Made Me Feel Like Another Man"

After All Else Had Failed, Detroit Man Finds Quick Relief Through N. E. Medicine

MR. WILLIAM STEVENS
"Konjola made me feel like a new man," said Mr. William Stevens, Box 393-B, R.F.D., No. 7, Detroit. "My liver was badly out of condition for years. My eyes and skin were yellow. I had no end of bilious spells and these grew more frequent and severe as medicine after medicine failed to help me. At last I had to go to bed, too sick and miserable to be on my feet."

"The outlook was dark, for I had not the faintest idea what to try next. Then my attention was attracted to Konjola. Words fail to express my delight when the first two bottles proved to me that I had found the medicine I needed. Two more bottles set my liver right, and as the poisons were swept from my body, my eyes and skin lost their yellow hue and my general health began to climb. Today, I feel like I did years ago." Konjola is sold in Grayling at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

THE REPORT BOARD

(By Grayling Public Schools)

School Figures Largely in Carnival
With each of the four high school classes represented by a car decorated in its class colors, the "Northern Lights" float, and several comic characters, Grayling High School was well represented in the Winter Sports parade last Saturday afternoon. Our queen, Helen Lietz, looking very regal in her white costume, was seated on her throne of white on her special float. Also, Ann Brady and Nadine McNeven—as Old Dutch Cleanser girls, and Lois and Martha Sorenson as Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy were especially good.

Everything went well and the school feels fully rewarded for the work spent in preparation for the event.

Successful Friday and Saturday

Last Friday afternoon the boys basketball team made a trip to Manselona and returned the same evening with the game all theirs—26-14.

The following night we were visited by the East Tawas team. The game started off with a bang as the first play went off perfectly. The following plays were a good deal like the beginning and the final score was 34-15 in Grayling's favor.

Second Team Loses To St. Mary's (Gaylord)
Our faith in the second team was hardly fulfilled in its game with St. Mary's of Gaylord, for somehow or other the Grayling passes could not get thru. Plays were broken up before the boys could get within shooting range. The St. Mary's team had a strong defense thus making going harder for our team. During the last half, although they were behind, our team did its best to make up what they had lost in the first half. The game ended in Gaylord's favor.

The girls have been having indoor baseball one night a week and basketball one night every other week. They are under the direction of Miss Hunter and Miss Nickols. Tennis practice is expected to begin a little later.

The date for the Junior play has been set as Feb. 21. The name of the play is "High Flyers," and the action features an excellent cast.

Miss Hunter was absent a few days last week with an attack of laryngitis.

Orchestra Begins Work

We are now assured of a high school orchestra. Last Thursday evening some twenty-five or more of our high school students met for their first rehearsal and Supt. LaBarge and Miss McAllister who are in charge of the group expressed themselves as being more than satisfied with the prospects for a good strong organization. Several more instruments are needed to balance the parts, especially a baritone saxophone is very desirable to the saxophone section. We feel safe in saying that in all probability our high school orchestra will make its bow to the public before the close of the school year.

The Girl Scouts are planning a Valentine party for Thursday. A hint will be enjoyed afterwards supper at the school.

HELD PEDRO PARTY

There was a most enjoyable time had at the pedro party held last Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Olds at the Richardson Club on the AuSable river. The evening was spent playing pedro and other games. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Skingley and Mr. Henry Stephan for high scores, and Mrs. P. W. Christenson and Mr. Elmer Olds for low scores.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephan, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mathewson, Mr. and Mrs. George Skingley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Borchers, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Feldhauser and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Engel, and Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Christenson.

A very delicious oyster stew was served by the hostess which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. At a late hour the guests departed after voting Mr. and Mrs. Olds as being excellent host and hostess.

CHANGE PLEAS TO GUILTY

After appealing a conviction from the lower court, Lawrence Boyd and John Boyd, Mt. Clemens, pleaded guilty in the Macomb County Circuit court to killing a pheasant out of season. Each was sentenced to pay a fine of $75.00 and pay $12.40 court costs.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT PLAY "HIGH FLYERS"

the farm and goes to the city to Berkshire College.

Jack Whitney, handsome and athletic as well as being unusually brilliant, leaves his little mountain home to attend college. Dovey and Jack become very much interested in each other.

Mazie Murray, a vamp from a town near Dovey's home, is also in love with Jack. She plots to win him at any cost. She tells Dovey that Jack is very wealthy, and is only "kidding her along," as he wouldn't consider anyone who didn't have aristocratic ancestors. Mazie tells Jack the same thing about Dovey. This arouses Dovey's and Jack's fighting blood, and they both decide to win their hearts desire.

Dovey's roommate, Babs, and Jack's friend, Bob, are converted into aristocratic parents. Many screamingly humorous scenes are enacted. Dovey and Jack both make a desperate effort to be "High Flyers."

Dovey's country aunt and their real parents appear on the scene. (Mr. Whitney, a widower, becomes interested in Mrs. Dovey when he finds that she is a widow.) Things become complicated. Rose, the Irish maid, says she's heard of two most everything, but two mamas and two papas, at both and the same time gets her brain going round and round.

Jack and Dovey are selected to represent Berkshire College in a music and oratorical contest, but have been too busy "Flyin' High" to take it seriously, until the day before the contest. Jack sits dreaming when suddenly he hears his fellow students practicing their yells, yelling for him. He then realizes that he has been "Going up in the wrong direction." He determines to fight for his Alma Mater.

At the contest, Jack admits his poverty and makes a wonderful oration. Berkshire wins the contest. Mazie's plans are upset a bit after Jack's speech. Her brother, John Murray, comes in intoxicated and "spills the beans" concerning the whole affair. After the real truth is known, Jack, Dovey, Mrs. Dovey and Mrs. Whitney make it a "double."

The cast of characters will be published next week.
